ROBERT GREENHOW.

MERCHANT, in Williamsburg, will dispose of the valuable and most eligible situated TENEMENT, on which he now resides, in this city, at a credit of one, two, three or four years; bonds with approved security, to be given by the purchaser, bearing interest from their dates, until paid: Or he will receive in exchange improved or unimproved LOTS, in and about the city of Richmond, at an agreed price.

All the advantages attached to this property, cannot well be described in an advertisement:—They are left to be judged of by those inclined to treat with him—suffice it, however, to say, that the dwelling-house is roomy and spacious, that it has every convenient out house, necessary for those moving in the genteel sphere; with a newly erected store, for mercantile purposes; that it is situated on the south side of the main-street, in the centre of the city; distant from the court-house, market and church, 4 or 500 yards, that its front is open on the right and left, to two spacious public squares, at once adding to the prospect, and giving free circulation to the air: That the whole tenement is in a complete and perfect state of repair; and that the buildings stand insured against fire, by the Mutual Insurance Company, in Richmond: The premiums, quotas, &c. all duly settled up to the 1st of April last. To add to the convenience of such as may be inclined to possess this property, an acre of ground laid down in Clover, about 200 yards from his house, also, on the main-street, and a tract of Land, containing between 90 and 100 acres, covered with oak, hickory and pine, 3 1/2 miles from the town, yielding an inexhaustible supply of fuel, will be attached.

If he is successful in the disposition by sale, or exchange of this property, he will sell eight or ten Tenements, on the same terms; all of which are most eligibly situated, in different parts of the city, on the main-street; and except one, which has just undergone a thorough repair, all tenanted out to respectable tenants, punctual in their stipulated payment of rents; and which (he will convince those, inclined to purchase,) do annually yield a revenue, on the price he has affixed on them, of fully 8 per cent. free from all deductions, for the repair of natural decays.

These tenements are all in good order; & what operates greatly in their favor, they are scarcely ever untenanted. Three of them are also insured, and all demandable premiums and quotas fully paid.

My brother, Mr. George Greenhow, residing in Richmond, will, it appears to, give a more accurate description of the above-mentioned property, and negotiate with such as may feel disposed to treat for their purchase.

The tract contains nearly two thousand acres, & possesses many advantages which entitle it to the attention of those who may wish to reside in that highly improved part of our country. Two merchant mills are in the neighborhood, one on the adjoining estate, and the other within two miles. It is 35 miles from Alexandria, and forty from George-Town. The new Turnpike from Alexandria, crosses a corner of the land, and terminates at the nearest merchant mill. The tract is remarkably well watered. Little river passing through the middle of it, and many small streams on each side, emptying into that river. About 30 or 40 acres are already well set with timothy, & at least 300 are capable of being made excellent meadow. It will be divided into tracts of different dimensions, to suit the convenience of purchasers.

LAND FOR SALE.—The subscriber offers for sale that valuable estate on which he formerly resided, lying on James River, near the Town of Warminster, in the County of Nelson, lately Amherst. This tract contains nearly two thousand acres—The low grounds are of the most valuable kind, and the highlands immediately adjacent thereto are very fertile and uncommonly level—It might be divided into two plantations to advantage, or continued in one, as might suit the owner. The houses are new and amply sufficient for the comfortable accommodation of a family. A more minute description is deemed unnecessary, as it is presumed the purchaser will view and judge for himself. The subscriber will only observe that the place is very healthy, lies in a fine neighborhood, and commands, perhaps, as many advantages as any other situation that is offered for sale in the state. One fourth of the purchase money will be required on the first of January, when possession will be given; and the balance will be divided into nine equal annual installments, without any charge of interest if the principal be punctually paid.—A large crop of small grain will be sown in good order, and the purchaser may be accommodated with corn &c. sufficient for a year's supply. Letters directed to Buckingham Court-House, or to Warminster, would be soon received and attended to. In my absence, my brother Mr. Joseph C. Cabell will show the land to any person desirous to purchase.

WM. H. CABELL. September 1. tf

TO all whom it may concern.—RICHARD SMYTH, a native of Ireland, departed this life on the 18th of June, 1809, without leaving in this State, or in the United States, any relation by consanguinity, and possessed of some Estate in Lands within this Commonwealth, of which, as well as of the United States he had long been a Citizen. His intent was to give the whole to the subscriber, as his Nuncupative Will, now of Record, will sufficiently prove; but the Subscriber hath been advised, that a Will of that kind cannot effect a conveyance of Lands, how far soever it may prove the intent of the Testator, and that the Lands late of the said Richard Smith do of consequence, escheat to the Commonwealth, though contrary to his intent of bestowing them on a citizen thereof. For that reason, the subscriber shall request the General Assembly, at its ensuing session, by Petition, to carry the intent of the said Smyth into execution, by releasing the Interest of the Commonwealth in the Lands whereof he was possessed, or entitled to within the same, to the Subscriber.

CONTINUATION OF FOREIGN ADVICES, FROM LONDON PAPERS.

Sept. 17. Lord Collingwood, we learn by letters from his fleet, is coming home soon. We regret to add, he is at present in an ill state of health. He has been out more than five years, without once setting foot on shore. His lordship has accumulated an immense fortune—we believe upwards of £200,000 in prize money. Sir J. T. Duckworth is named as his successor.

PARIS, Aug. 1. An imperial decision orders the immediate revocation of the measures of retaliation lately adopted against the Algerines, the day of that regency having given every satisfaction with regard to Mr. Dubois Thainville and the French who are in his states. In consequence the sequestration put on the vessels and property of the dey is taken off. (Gazette de France.)

Notice is hereby given, that the U. States having been pleased to appoint D. B. Warren, Esq. their consul, and agent for prize causes, at Paris, it is only through this agent, that the intervention of the said states with the French authorities can be extended to said causes.

Aug. 19. Different letters received from Constantinople by the way of Dalmatia, and of the date of the 27th May last, mention that the news of the battle of Ratisbon and of the capture of Vienna, had spread with the greatest rapidity throughout Turkey, and had produced a great deal of sensation. The Divan, who before that event, appeared disposed to grant permission to the English to pass the Dardanelles, in order to facilitate to them the means of setting on fire the Russian ports in the Black Sea, have refused them this permission, and they now appear to be drawing towards the charge d'affaires of France. From every circumstance we are led to believe, that the latter power has again acquired its former influence.

VIENNA, July 15. The following letter from Gentz to count Stadion, minister for foreign affairs, which was intercepted, has just been published:

TYRNAU, July 7, 1809.

(BY AN ESTAFETTE.)

MONSIEUR LE COMTE.

When I delivered to Mr. Binder the letter by which I announced to your excellency the project of repairing hither, I begged of him, and he positively and solemnly promised me that I should find at Tyrnau information which would guide me in my future steps. I also believe that Mr. de Binder must have written to me; but God knows what malignant spirit has prevented his letter reaching me. In place of authentic information, I have heard here only a great many vague accounts, every one more alarming than the other, so much so, that if I had believed the people of Tyrnau, I must have immediately returned back. I have not done this; but although deprived of every kind of guide (for nobody here has even the shadow of any idea of what is going forward,) upon simply comparing the different false versions, I have arrived at the persuasion that things had not essentially changed, and that this movement of the Archduke John, to which the most afflicting motives are assigned here, must have a relation to future projects, and not to events which are passed.

The only material subject of uneasiness remaining, is then the silence of Mr. Binder, which is so much the more painful, as, even supposing that your excellency thought proper to see me, the accounts with regard to the road to be taken, vary as much as the news respecting the pretended great battle. I therefore beg your excellency to write to me, or to cause a few words to be written to me in order to inform me in the first place of your intentions, and in case of these being to see me at Wolkersdorf, to point out to me (at least in general) the road which I must choose in order to get there. I shall wait for the answer to this letter with an impatience which your excellency may easily conceive; for I am completely lost and isolated, and I am a prey to all that ignorance and stupidity can devise for torturing my mind. I hope from your excellency's goodness, I request as a particular favor, that you will send your answer by an estafette, in order that this isolated interval may not last above two days.

I remain with every sentiment of the attachment and respect of which your excellency knows me capable.

Monsieur le Comte, Your most obedient and most faithful servant, (Signed) GENTZ.

(Journal de l'Empire.)

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 3. It is reported that orders has been given to the American ships to quit our ports and that in future no more will be admitted into them. Those who are still in the Texel are the Enterprize, captain Tripp, of New York; the Suffolk, captain A. Thompson, of New York; the Hannah, captain Buckwold, of Petersburg.

BRUSSELS, August 10. The prefect to the citizens under his administration:

"Existing circumstances had hitherto allowed government to dispense with your performing the duty, common to all Frenchmen, of forming part of the national guards; at present that the neighboring territory is menaced, it would be a kind of shame to be without organization to repel the implacable enemy, who, in his mad presumption, dares venture to seek you. I am ignorant whether the courage of the inhabitants of the Dyle will receive permission to display itself; but I am the guarantee that you will vie, if necessary, in zeal with the generous cohorts formed of the neighboring departments. They have all repaired with ardor to the field of victory. Why should they alone have this honor? Why should they alone attract the looks of the prince who dispenses glory? Shall we let slip this opportunity of meriting the esteem of the greatest of heroes, of the first of sovereigns? Hasten to form your battalions; be impatient to complete our first successes. You are Frenchmen; the object in view is glory, the aim before you is the English; let these two worlds awaken at once both your valor and your vengeance.

LA TOUR DU PIN.

(Here follows an ordinance for the organization of the national guards.)

LONDON, September 16.—Deeply do we lament to find, that the report we noticed yesterday, of the arrival and reception of Mr. Jackson in America, is without foundation—not that we entertain much doubt of an accommodation being ultimately effected; for the restoration of commercial intercourse between the two countries, has become so essential to England, that perhaps even Mr. Canning himself, had he continued in office, might have seen the imperious necessity of renewing the commercial intercourse with America. Statesman.

The intelligence from Persia, by the last India arrival, is satisfactory. The French influence is said to have been broken by the address and perseverance of Sir Harford Jones. The English troops, which have been sent to the Persian gulf for the purpose of giving weight to the negotiations with the court of Isphahan, have been recalled.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

The chamber of commerce of Paris, has received from his excellency the minister of the interior ad interim, the flattering mission of announcing to the chamber of commerce, that the ambassador of his majesty in Spain, has obtained the re-establishment of the transit, free of all duties, of cotton and other colonial produce sent from Portugal to France, and of cloths and other goods sent from France to Portugal.

The duties which have even been hitherto received at Vittoria will be returned.

In virtue of official notes, this transit is regulated as follows:

"The transit of raw cotton and other colonial produce, sent from Portugal for France, shall come by the road of Badajoz, or by that of Tuy to Vittoria.

"The transit of cloths and other French goods, which may be sent to Portugal, shall take place by the way of Badajoz to Vittoria; that of Tuy is not included.

"The merchants and the conductors of these goods, the transit of which is authorized, are holder to fulfil the formalities prescribed by the royal order of the 18th November, 1807, and which are conformable to the following:

"1. The custom houses of Badajoz and of Tuy, remain alone authorized for the introduction, and that of Vittoria for the dispatching of the goods, submitting them, however, to a visit to be made, comparatively with the declaratory notes presented by the parties interested.

"2. After the first verification, the goods shall be loaded in the cases or bales which contain them.

"A manifest shall afterwards be delivered, specifying the contents, the number of the cases or bales, and the marks and weights. At the end of the manifest, shall be the precise obligation on the part of the conductors, to present within a reasonable time, thus pointed out, a counter note of the director of the custom-house of Vittoria, proving that the dispatching has been verified, and that the manifest has been found conformable to the goods, under the penalty for the owners, of being subjected to the duties due to the royal crown of Spain.

"3. The owners are also holder to prove by a certificate from the Spanish consul residing in that part of France, for which the goods are intended, the place of their ultimate destination."

"Moreover, this permission is only to continue during the war with England."

LONDON, September 18.—A gunpowder laboratory exploded accidentally at Vienna, on the 4th ult. by which 60 persons lost their lives.

Bonaparte's birth day was celebrated at Vienna, with the greatest pomp. The citizens were paraded in the morning and were entertained in the evening by fire works let off on the glaciers. The whole city was illuminated, and the theatres exhibited gratuitously. To the poorer classes a quantity of provisions and liquors were distributed. All the civil and military authorities attended Te Deum at St. Stephen's and nearly 300 pieces of cannon were fired throughout the day.

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 25.—Reports have been in circulation during the week, of a minister having been sent by the American government to France, with proposals for a treaty between the two countries. The French government, it was said, being unable to come to any agreement with Mr. Armstrong, had referred the points in dispute to their resident in America. The people
